

QUOTA

A. DEFINITION:

Various quotas which were allocated through the International Financial System can only be materialized under certain specific conditions.

B. CLASSIFICATION OF QUOTA:

1) Quota of 20th Century (Q20)

Earlier it has been recognized and registered in the cash market as an inactive accounting item but after the inception of the new financial system, it is now being classified as "electronic ledgers".

2) Quota of 21th Century (Q21)

The amount of credit facility allocated through the Financial Institution of United Nations Organization is designated for funding of specific development projects only.

C. PRECEPT AND UTILITY OF QUOTA:

1) Before and since 1997, due to failure of most member countries of the global monetary system in repaying their debts, these currencies become null and void in value as there is no backup of gold deposits. Thus the HABILITATOR could no longer be able to approve loans for direct investment in the world economic development projects. In order to maintain and stabilize global economy, a New Financial System has been rescheduled for a period necessary for settlement of debts incurred before the year 1997.

2) Thus during the transitional period, the Q20 can be utilized to be counter guarantee by the Private Investor towards financing economic development projects of a country - in which case, the beneficiary countries will be free from burden of debts and make available the Q20 before the value returns to its normal value (Q21).

3) At present the Q20 is known as "electronic ledger" in the financial wire transferring system. In reality the "electronic ledger" is only a record filed in the Master Accounting Book-Keeping of the Financial System which can neither be drawn nor removed (destroyed).

4) Today's Finance Market Structure Guideline is only applicable to those who are able to adopt the new system in the field of consultancies, services and project sub-contractors etc. (please refer to appendix: "Today's Finance Market Structure Guideline"). All remuneration will be effected to become New Currencies that are free from any encumbrances and can be utilized for all normal and legal financial transaction expenses.

D. CONCLUSION

The need to use the Quota in the New Financial System in the 21st century is the ONLY solution as it is being counter guaranteed by the Private Investor in the generation of New Money injected in the Financial Market thus normalize the World Market Economy.
